Trouble Shooters

A 3-man team of automobile "trouble shooters" from M. C. Napier High School represented the Hazard Vocational School in competition in Louisville last week and placed 3rd out of 13 teams from across Kentucky. They are, left to right, James Miller, 18; Vocational School instructor Raleigh Napier; James Hamlin, 18, and Sam Dykes, 18. The team was sponsored by local Plymouth dealer, Fallon's Garage.

Retarded Children School Is Aim Of New Association

Fourteen people met in the Kentucky Power Company auditorium Monday night to organize the Hazard Area Association For Retarded Children and to make plans for establishment of a retarded children's school.

Election of officers was postponed until next Monday but the group agreed to look upon the establishment of a once-a-week Sunday School for retarded children at St. Mark's Episcopal Church this summer as the forerunner of a 5-day-a-week regular school to begin next September.

Pushing the drive to get such a school started in Hazard is the Rev. John A. Naegele and public health nurse Mrs. Wilma Robinson, who was instrumental in setting up the Leatherwood Day Care Center For Retarded Children.

Rev. Naegele had already made plans to conduct the special Sunday school, beginning June 20 at his church on Walnut Street in Hazard. The new Association accepted his invitation to use the Sunday school as a nucleus for its own school next fall.

Rev. Naegele emphasized that although the Sunday school would be in his Episcopal church building it would be of an interdenominational nature. The plan is to place the children in a limited social environment with religious overtones for an hour each Sunday, using Baptist and Methodist religious materials.

Volunteer teachers from local Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches have already made themselves available for the summer class. The new Association will meet Monday night at 7:30 at the Power Company auditorium to elect officers and make further organizational plans. All persons interested in helping retarded children are urged to attend. A movie on the subject has been ordered and will be shown if it arrives in time.

Guest speaker at the organizational meeting was William B. Brian, executive director of the Kentucky Association For Retarded Children.

He urged that local people tackle the problem of retardation in their communities by forming such groups as the Hazard Area Association, and the Leatherwood Day Care Center, and to give support to the state Association's efforts to urge government to assume a greater responsibility for afflicted children.

He said there are 5,400,000 retarded persons in the country now, with 126,000 more born annually. A major goal of the state and local Association is to demonstrate that the retarded can be helped, and then to encourage government to assume a greater responsibility for helping them.

He said that only 25 per cent of the needs of the retarded were being met in the United States, and that Kentucky was far behind in its efforts to meet these needs.

"Extra love and patience" are needed to help the retarded, Brian said. "It's time to light the candle instead of cursing the darkness."

Hazard Is Urged To Establish Factory Sites To Lure Industry

A group of Hazard men yesterday accompanied representatives of the Kentucky Department of Commerce and an engineering firm on a tour of some prospective sites for small industries in the county, with an eye toward perhaps buying and developing them as an industry lure.

Among the visitors was Robert Flory of the R. W. Booker and Associates Consulting Engineers firm of St. Louis, Missouri, the firm which last year helped Middlesboro develop industrial sites that already have attracted two factories.

The firm in cooperation with the State Department of Commerce, is now seeking to help other Eastern Kentucky towns follow Middlesboro's lead.

The visitors were in Hazard as part of a tour of all of Eastern Kentucky. They were to also meet with local leaders in Hindman, Whitesburg and Cumberland yesterday.

Among them were Don Webb of the Department of Commerce; Richard Houpe of the Kentucky Industrial Development Financing Authority; Roger Thompson of the Kentucky Power Company; Hill Smith of the Area Redevelopment Administration; and Arthur Crowe, an industrial agent for the L.

PCDA Is Honored For Cleanup Work

The Perry County Development Association was given a Certificate of Merit for outstanding work in Perry County's continuing cleanup campaign last night at the site-sponsored Cleanup and Beautification Conference at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington.

Recognized with similar certificates for their contributions to the campaign were Mrs. Gene Combs, chairman of the PCDA sub-committee spearheading the drive, and Region 1 Sanitation Consultant Steve Sandlin.

Former Governor Bert Combs made the presentations. About 44 individuals and organizations were recognized for their contributions to the state-wide beautification effort.

Perry County's campaign has so far resulted in the removal of over 500 old junk cars from the roadsides, and the establishment of 6 public garbage dumps at strategic points in the county.

Pollution Chief Calls For Lothair Annexation

Hazard's City Commission revived its interest in annexing Lothair at its regular meeting this afternoon at the urging of Kentucky's Water Pollution Control Director, who said Lothair sewage in Hazard's water source "could cause an epidemic to break out at any time."

Ralph Pickard told the Commissioners in emphatic terms that the only answer to Hazard's and Lothair's "common problem" is "to annex the community of Lothair to the city of Hazard."

City Attorney Ernest Faulkner was directed by the Commission, on authority of a previous ordinance, to draw up a suit of annexation and to update engineering reports of Lothair and adjacent neighborhoods for consideration at the next meeting of the Board.

A similar annexation document with engineer's studies were drawn up last year and read to the Commissioners, and public hearings for Lothair residents were held, but no further effort to annex the community was made.

Since those efforts were made at the previous urging of the state Director Pickard wondered today why they had not been followed up on.

Commissioner C. B. Feltner said the city had not pursued the annexation then because it "was at a loss" in determining just how large an area should be annexed, and just where funds were available to finance the cost of such a venture.

Commissioner Jack Burnett agreed, saying that the question of money held up the annexation. He said he had not been assured that the city could borrow money for the costs of annexation and added sewer extension without jeopardizing its present financial status.

Mr. Pickard said that revenue bonds were the proper instrument for raising whatever funds were necessary, and that they would place no additional financial burden on the city or the tax payers.

Pickard also said he believed most of the people in Lothair were in favor of being annexed to Hazard. He said he had letters from prominent Lothair individuals urging the annexation, and that no one had written him protesting it.

Woodcrafters Group Gets Support Of Southern Mountains Council

Odds favoring the survival of Blackey's little woodcrafters venture went up last week when the Council of Southern Mountains underwrote its expenses for the next six months in hopes that the Office of Economic Opportunity will eventually come across with a grant large enough to make it a permanent thing.

The woodcrafters, formally room in the Blackey Grade drawn adults from as far away as the Blackey Crafts Association, is a group of Letcher native woods such things as now are making various items County people seeking to promote the production of hand-made wood crafts as salable items.

At present the woodcrafters are primarily hobbyists, mostly high school boys, but the leaders of the venture, and the Council of Southern Mountains hope adults will become interested enough to try to make a living at it.

The Council looks upon the Blackey woodcrafters as "an experimental project in vocational education" that can eventually be expanded to include "basic adult education" as well.

The Council is helping the woodcrafters prepare a request for financial aid from the Office of Economic Opportunity after a 6 month "demonstration phase."

The effort is similar to an existing project in Blackey that has already met with considerable success.

Several ladies in the Blackey area took special training in rug-hooking and formed the Hound Dog Hookers, which now receives large orders for hand-hooked rugs in many southern and eastern states.

The woodcrafters have a

Project Head Start Explained By Director

The Director of the Project HEAD START for the Hazard City Schools is Estill McIntyre, Principal of the Roy G. Eversole School. The six teachers who will have charge of the groups are as follows: Mrs. Pearl Helton, Mrs. Mary Willoughby, and Mrs. Mildred Stevens all regular teachers at the Roy G. Eversole School; Mrs. Anna C. Sampson, a regular teacher at the Walkertown School; and Mrs. Carlene Shackelford and Mrs. Cynthia McIntyre both regular teachers at the Lothair School.

The director and teachers will attend a HEAD START training school at the University of Kentucky from June 7 through June 12.

Letters of invitation and application forms are being sent to parents of all children who will enter first grade next year. Any questions should be directed to Mr. McIntyre or to any of the teachers. Mr. McIntyre urges all parents to fill out the application forms and return them to one of the three elementary schools as soon as possible. He will be glad to furnish application forms to any such parent who failed to receive one.

On Tuesday of this week, the Hazard City School System was notified by Congressman, Carl Perkins, that its application for a grant to operate a Project HEAD START for children of the Hazard City School District had been approved.

The grant provides funds for operating a program for 100 children who will enter first grade next fall. The program will be started on June 14 and will run through August 6. It will be held at the Roy G. Eversole Elementary School and will serve children from all over the district.

Project HEAD START is designed to do just what it says—give children of pre-school age a "head start" so that when they enter first grade, they will have already had a readiness program which will enable them to learn to read better in a shorter time. It will also enable children from the lower income group to have some experiences that will enable them to enter school more on a par with children who have had more experiences.

Following are some of the details of how the Project HEAD START will work: The pre-school children from the Hazard City School District, that is, children who will enter first grade next fall, will come to the Roy G. Eversole School building at nine o'clock each school day. The school days will be Monday through Friday for eight weeks or a total of forty days. Children who live too far from the school to walk will be transported to and from the school by school bus. This means that they will be transported from the Wabico-Altais-Walker's Branch-Walkertown section. From Lothair, East Main, Woodland Park, Bluegrass, North Main, and perhaps from other sections as needed. The project will provide for a combination school bus driver-custodian to be on duty throughout the day.

Upon arrival at the school, the children will be given a health inspection. Then they will engage in work and play activities for about an hour. The hundred children who will be enrolled will be divided into six groups of approximately 16 children each. Each group will have a professional teacher plus an adult teacher's aide. Work and play activities will include such activities as drawing, coloring, singing, playing games, playing with toys, etc. Following these activities they will have a mid-morning snack of milk and cookies followed by a rest period. After the rest period, they will engage in group activities including music, dramatizations, story telling, etc. Then comes the lunch period. A regular hot lunch will be served each day. The grant will provide for the purchase of good food and for cooks to prepare it. The children will have another period of rest after lunch then will have another hour of activities including excursions to places about town to learn about people who help them such as policemen, firemen, city officials, department store operators, etc.

In addition, on other days, they will have playtime, story time, looking at and handling picture books, viewing film strips, listening to records, and just talking to each other and to adults. The project will provide for the purchase of pre-school level books, filmstrips, phonograph records, and such consumable materials as drawing paper, construction paper, crayons, pencils, paste, finger paint, etc.

The school day will end at two o'clock.

Following are some of the things that we hope the children will achieve: 1. Achieving and maintaining physical and mental health through helping to create and maintain a safe and healthful school environment. 2. Learning about vocations and earning a living by becoming acquainted with people who contribute to the comfort, safety, and pleasure of the child. 3. Communicating information and ideas to each other and to adults. 4. Performing responsibilities of citizenship by learning to get along with other and to enjoy other children and adults. 5. Learning to enjoy the good things of life by learning to use their hands, to listen to good music, to work with color, etc.

All of these things will put the children into a better position to learn when they enter school.

To The Voters Of Perry County:

I want to take this time to thank each and every one for being polite and courteous to me as I have campaigned in many of your homes and places of business. I have been working hard and will continue this until Election Day, and if elected will work hard until the General Election in November.

As I have stated several times, my reason in seeking this office is for the betterment of Perry County. I have no political ties to any one person or group. I have one obligation and that is to you the people of Perry County.

I will make one promise now and keep it—and that is hard work as your State Representative.

Now you, the voter, make a promise that you will use common sense, and don't sell or give away the one right that you have and that's the right to vote for the candidate of your choice.

VOTE FOR HOMER EVERSOLE

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Four years ago I asked the voters of Perry County for the opportunity of serving them as County Judge but was defeated. This did not turn me against my party and I went all out in two campaigns both County and State wide. Again I am asking you for the opportunity. As long as I can reap what I have sown, I will continue to serve you. I have been in office 12 years and I have been able to step aside and let a younger man have the opportunity he has had. Another opportunity, Charles Duff, asked me to be his father-in-law. He too should be asked to be his father-in-law. I have been in the County Court since 1949, the year it was organized and has been on the national board for seven years.

I am a member of World War II having served two years with the United States Army. After being discharged I was a Veteran and I have spent many years helping the Veterans, their widows and families. I have a special appeal to the Veterans. I have helped you now I am asking you to help me. As State Chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars I spent long hours in Frankfort and all over the State working to get the Bonus passed. This Bonus not only helped the Veterans but also the teacher. I am asking the teachers to help me.

I have tried to see as much of you as possible and I take this motion picture. I have been unable to see you. Vote for HOMER EVERSOLE on May 25th, Number 2 on the Ballot.

UK'S MISS GIFFORD GIVEN HEART AWARD

The first distinguished service award ever given to a volunteer worker by the American Heart Fund Association was presented February 16 by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to Miss Chloé Gifford, director of University of Kentucky Special Activities. I am accepting this award on behalf of over two million heart and volunteer workers all over the country. Miss Gifford said she has been on the board of the state Heart Fund affiliate since 1949, the year it was organized and has been on the national board for seven years.

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 4:

I, Jesse Paul Engle, wish to announce my filing as a candidate for Magistrate subject to the Republican Primary, May 25, 1965.

I am the son of the late James H. and Lucinda Smith Engle of Troublesome Creek, Ky. While I was still quite young my family moved to the Rulan community where I have continued to live and make a home for my wife and me.

I am married to Ella Hughes, daughter of Zack Hughes, deceased and Martha Stacy Hughes.

I submit the following in support of my candidacy making it possible for you, the voters of District 4, to decide as to whether I am qualified to serve as your magistrate:

I am a veteran of World War II, having served with the Ninth (9th) Troop Carrier Command, European Theater of Operations, and received a medical discharge in 1945.

I have been engaged in private and public accounting while employed with the Smith's Shopping Center at Bulan, Kentucky for the past 15 years.

I am a graduate of Dudley High School and attended Lee's Junior College, Jackson, Kentucky and Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Ky.

If nominated in the Republican Primary on May 25, 1965, and elected in the General Election in November 1965, the following will be my efforts:

To work with the Fiscal Court in an effort to improve the image of our county at home and on the State and National level.

The recent passage of the Appalachian Anti-Poverty Bill makes it necessary for our people to elect those county officials that are best qualified to aid and use all agencies in obtaining the best and greatest benefits for our people.

If nominated in the Republican Primary on May 25 and elected as Magistrate of District 4 in the General Election in November:

I will maintain a modern and up-to-date record of all business transacted by my office, and will publish a quarterly statement of all revenue collected and expended.

If this brief statement of my background and proposals, elected, make me worthy of your confidence and vote, I will be most humble and grateful.

When casting your vote on May 25, make sure you are voting for these candidates that are best qualified and trained in executing the fiscal affairs of our county.

Respectfully submitted

JESSE PAUL ENGLE

VOTE FOR BERNICE M. COMBS

FOR SHERIFF

Republican Primary, May 25, 1965

FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS OF PERRY COUNTY:

I am your present Sheriff, Charles E. Combs. As you know, I have served you for the past three years and four months. My term expires December 31, 1965.

You are going to select someone to serve you the next four years. We have tried to give you honest and courteous service in the past and will continue to do so as long as we remain in this office.

Our many friends throughout Perry County have encouraged us to enter this coming election, which will be May 25th. Under the law, I cannot succeed myself. So in order to give you the same courteous service, my friends and I decided that my wife should run for this high office; so here we are.

The election is very near and we have seen a lot of people throughout the county and hope to see all of you before the election, but in the event we do not we want you to know we appreciate your past present and future support. It would be useless for us to promise a lot of big flowery tales; Our record speaks for itself.

We have worked 24 hours a day, around the clock, to save our county from destruction and to try and keep a peaceful county in which to live. My wife, Bernice Combs, has been just as instrumental as I have. She knows the duties of the Sheriff as well as I do. We have one of the most modern Sheriff's department in the State of Kentucky. I have personally purchased marked cars, two-way radio equipment, uniforms and other equipment which Perry County has never had before. We recently purchased a four-wheel drive Scout so that we would be able to give better service to the rural areas. We now have six vehicles with two-way radio equipment, which enables us to serve you better.

The major crime rate in Perry County is now the lowest in the history of the county.

We only have three regular deputies which are paid salaries. We can reach practically any place in Perry County within thirty minutes or less. We have never failed to answer a necessary call regardless of what hour it may be. We will continue this same service when Bernice is elected. When you go to the polls on May 25th and nominate her for your Sheriff you can go home and rest assured that she will be elected in November. The Democrats all over Perry County are as interested in our campaign as the Republicans.

Now, my friends, stop and think if you want this continued modern efficient and courteous service.

Go to the polls on May 25th and cast your vote for Bernice M. Combs for sheriff.

THANK YOU.

Mary Breckinridge Dies At Wendover

She was twice married; widowed in 1906, divorced in 1920 and resumed her maiden name. Her public writing mentions the name of neither husband. She was the mother of two, Breckie and Polly.)

Her father was Clifton Rodas Breckinridge, six terms a congressman from Arkansas, and minister to Russia under President Grover Cleveland, 1894-97.

Her grandfather was the giant, handsome John C. Breckinridge, Vice President of the United States, 1856-60; secretary of war and major general of the Confederacy; nominee for president in 1860, defeated by President Abraham Lincoln.

Her great-grandfather was Joseph C. Breckinridge, speaker of the Kentucky House of Representatives, and Secretary of State, before his death in 1829 at 35.

Her great-great-grandfather was John Breckinridge, founder of the line in Kentucky in 1793; U. S. Senator from Kentucky, and attorney general in the cabinet of President Thomas Jefferson.

Born in Memphis

Mrs. Breckinridge was born February 17, 1881, at Memphis, Tenn., but merely because her mother went there, to her own mother's home, for the event.

She was 13 when the family moved to Russia. Until then, her life had been a whirl of childish adventure between Pine Bluff, Ark., their home; Washington, where her father sat in Congress; Ontario, Canada, where he went summers to fish; Oasis Plantation in Mississippi, the ancestral seat of her maternal grandfather, and Hazelwood, the fabulous estate of her great-aunt in New York.

After two years of girlhood as the U. S. Minister's vivacious daughter at the St. Petersburg and Moscow courts of Czar Nicholas II, she was sent to school in Switzerland. Back home again, she resumed the active life of a Breckinridge—riding, hunting, fishing, reading, writing, romance and marriage.

'I Was Not Fitted'

But she could think, too. In her words, she thought "Upon reflection, I realized I was not fitted to be of service to anyone." And so, as a young widow of one year, she entered the School of Nursing at St. Luke's Hospital, New York City.

Except for one interlude, life from then on found Mrs. Breckinridge not only "fitted," but with the iron will to apply it to the "service" of others. The one exception was her brief return to domesticity, her second marriage, and the birth and death of Breckie and Polly.

She continued her professional education in England, Scotland and the Continent, specializing in midwifery. She was head nurse (with a staff of five), during the 1918 influenza epidemic at Washington, an epidemic that struck down 40,000 there at its peak. After World War I, she was associated with Myron T. Herrick and Miss Anne Morgan in a massive relief program in devastated France.

In 1923, on a visit to Kentucky kinfolks, Mrs. Breckinridge spent the summer in the mountains, riding 13 horses and 3 mules. FNS was born in what she saw and heard. She spent 1924 studying the services and systems of midwifery in Scotland and England.

Nucleus of FNS was created May 28, 1925, at the first meeting of the Kentucky Committee for Mothers and Babies, held at the Capital Hotel, Frankfort. The money at hand consisted of $100 from one of Mrs. Breckinridge's aunts; $50 from a friend in France, and $50 that she secretly supplied in the name of her grandfather.

After two years of girlhood as the U. S. Minister's vivacious daughter at the St. Petersburg and Moscow courts of Czar Nicholas II, she was Hasie support, however, was her pledge to underwrite the venture for three years.

Perhaps no man or woman ever lived with a deeper ethnic knowledge of the Kentucky mountains. Mrs. Breckinridge understood the mountaineer and his family to the core.

In turn, she was accepted to the full depths of the mountain heart and mind. She knew the culture, the idiom, the strength and the weakness, of the proud people upon whom she lavished her enlightened beneficence.

But with all her attainments, Mrs. Breckinridge loathed personal publicity. She fought against it with the ferocity of a tigress at bay. In a large sense, she died a stranger in the state that nurtured her distinguished lineage. The irony is, the work of her life outlines that of any male in her line.

Mrs. Breckinridge was highly educated, not only from experience, but in the academic sense. She was trained by governesses, and at Rosenmont-Dezacey, Lausanne, Switzerland; Low and Heywood School, Stamford, Conn., and Columbia University.

Educated in London

Professionally, she was educated at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, and British Hospital for Mothers and Babies, London.

She was awarded honorary degrees by University of Louisville, University of Rochester, University of Kentucky and Berea College. U. K. awarded her the Sullivan Medal for distinguished service in 1935. Gov. A. B. Chandler awarded her the Governor's Medallion for distinguished service in 1959.

Kentucky Press Association honored her as Kentuckian of the year in 1952.

That was the year she wrote "Wide Neighborhoods," published by Harper's. It was the story of Frontier Nursing Service, with as much of her own life as shed light on her grand undertaking. Characteristically, she deeded all fees and royalties from the book to FNS.

This is the new building that will house Bailey's Tire Recapping Plant adjacent to the present Service Station and Restaurant. Actual tire recapping should be underway in the new structure within the next three weeks.

Tire Recapping Plant To Be Built At Bailey's Service Station

Bailey's Service Station and Restaurant in the Wabaco section of Hazard is expanding. Within the next 30 days a new, complete and up to date Craft Tread Tire Recapping Plant will be open for business adjoining to the present location.

Bailey's, The General Tire Distributor for the Area, has been a long time fixture of the Hazard area.

Mr. James Bailey, co-owner of the establishment, with his son Earl says the new addition will raise payroll for his business to a round 50,000 dollars a year. Two or three jobs will be open once the plant is completed.

Tire recapping has been on the upswing in recent years, particularly in the heavy duty truck line and Bailey's will be growing with the times.

HARVE HENSLEY

for COUNTY JUDGE

Democrat Primary, May 25, 1965

To The Voters of Perry County:

I am a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the office of County Judge of Perry County, subject to the May Primary.

I was born in 1911 in Perry County and have always lived here. I am a 32nd degree Mason and also a Shriner. From 1942 through 1960 I was employed by Blue Diamond Coal Company; Blue Diamond, Kentucky. Since that time I have been engaged in the Real Estate business. I served as Justice of the Peace in Magisterial District No. 6 for twelve consecutive years, and during that time, with the help of my friends, I got more than $200,000.00 in Rural and State roads built in my district. If you elect me as your County Judge I promise to work unceasingly to improve the entire road system of Perry County.

My wife is the former Miss Sinda Hamilton, and she has been Postmaster at Dice, Kentucky for the past twenty-three years. We have two children, seven grandchildren, and have reared two foster children. We are members of the Lost-creek Community Church, where my wife serves as Treasurer and I am a Deacon.

I want you, the voters of Perry County, to know that I am not connected with nor obligated to any of the other candidates in the other County races. Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it. I want to be your County Judge, and I humbly solicit your support. If nominated and elected I sincerely promise you four years of faithful and devoted service. With your support we will win and progress.

HARVE HENSLEY

NOMINATE AND ELECT

T. G. BATES

For

Magistrate of District 4

Democrat Primary, May 25, 1965

STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS OF PERRY COUNTY:

I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Magistrate, District 4, in the Primary Election, May 25.

I have lived in Perry County forty years. My life as a citizen is an open book to the people. I reared my family of five daughters and two sons here. They all graduated from Hazard and M. C. Napier High Schools. The daughters all married and moved away to find work. My son, T. G. Jr., graduated from Berea College and is now employed at the University Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky. My youngest son, I. J., whom you know for his excellence in Boy Scout ing, is a Senior at Berea College majoring in Sociology.

Born in Letcher I came to Perry County as a Section Foreman, then as an extra gang foreman and worked twelve years for the L. & N. Railroad Company.

During the great depression, I traveled for the General Motors Corporation. I worked over five mountain counties for them. I worked fifteen years I met people and businessmen of all classes and I feel I gained their friendship. For this experience, I am very grateful.

Down thru the path of life I have tried to make every community in which I have lived a better place to live. I have given land for streets and roads. I have had sympathy for the poor and hungry and underprivileged everywhere and have tried to help them. I would like to see a good road and better living conditions up every hollow. I want to give the fullest cooperation to schools and churches for without them, we can't live.

I want to do all I can and show my willingness and feel that Perry County needs an experienced person who is not afraid of hard work.

That is why I ask you to support me in my race and if you feel it in your hearts to nominate and elect me, I will be there with the door open waiting to serve you.

Hopefully yours,

T. G. Bates

Is Your Vote For Sale?

Throughout the political history of Eastern Kentucky's several counties, the disgraceful practice of buying votes has been so widespread that it has become relatively commonplace. Tradition has it that on election day, the candidate and his boosters appear at the various precinct polls, one hand filled with campaign leaflets, the other stuffed with dollar bills.

Over the years, the practice of vote-buying has become a little more sophisticated than that. True, money still floats around at the polls and candidates are sometimes seen taking a little walk behind the school house with a fellow about to vote inside.

But in recent years, especially here in the mountains, the spread of poverty and the consequent rise of an elaborate welfare system have created a situation which almost makes the greenback obsolete.

Other things of greater value now buy more votes than hard, cold cash ever could.

Some people, for example, would distribute food and clothing to needy people and expect political favor in return.

The giving out of such necessities of life, usually collected from generous, well-meaning people who do not suspect their gifts are being used for political purposes, is very big business all over the mountains these days.

A lot of agencies and individuals are in the act, passing out the coveted items, and all too often claiming personal credit for someone else's generosity.

Other candidates have another kind of money to spend for votes during election season. This money is nothing less than the power to hire and fire. Many are the people whose jobs depend upon the success of a particular candidate. Many are the people who must contribute to a candidate's campaign fund or else risk finding themselves unemployed.

This practice is usually most flagrant in the various public jobs. Men in such positions as those on the assembly line, fathers, work crews are particularly vulnerable to this kind of pressure, because in spite of the standards and regulations for their employment established by the government few of them could survive on the job if an influential man in government determined to have him fired.

Welfare recipients are perhaps even more vulnerable to the pressures of political machines than anyone. And the pressure paid machines can exert on election day is far more compelling than cash. Often, a family's total life security, as represented by continuing welfare support, is jeopardized if its members do not vote for a particular candidate. This is a hard fact to ignore when a person so dependent steps into the voting booth.

With so much money of various kinds being used to influence an individual's vote, what can that individual do to protect himself?

First of all, he should recognize that he owes no candidate a favor. If a candidate has done some particular service for the voter, or pretends he has in most cases it is no more than he should have done.

If the candidate has given the voter cash, the voter should ask that candidate what he got them.

If the candidate has got you on the welfare, the voter should feel no obligation to that individual candidate, but rather, to the generosity of the public whose taxes provide the welfare.

The same is true of the public work projects most of the men of these towns serve to be on them by regulations established by the federal government and the local administrators of the program, are merely doing their job for which they are paid, and the fathers owe them nothing.

Of course, to really protect oneself, most individuals who are dependent upon these various enterprises for clothing, jobs and security must keep their true opinions to themselves at least until election day.

Then, on that day, if he is going to the voting booth, he should exercise his personal choice without regard to false flattery and inducements outside it.

For Those Who Need It Most

The school systems of both Hazard and Perry County are now awaiting approval of their applications that will allow them to participate in this summer's nationwide Head Start project.

Head Start is a program of 8 weeks duration beginning in early June for underprivileged children who need a summer kindergarten to prepare them for the big experience of entering first grade in September.

This idea is a very good one, and it is pleasing to see our local school systems eager to take part in it. Head Start is a program for children who need it.

But it seems appropriate during this planning stage of the project to remind the school administrators and the general public that this is not to be a small, free kindergarten for any mother who wants to enroll her child.

First steps are taken to prevent it, there seems to exist the possibility that many children who do not need Head Start will be accepted, nevertheless, thereby taking the place of those who really need it. This will be a disaster. A selection system must be taken into account for the program.

The first step in the selection process is to identify the children who need it most.

"Many of these children have never seen a book, held a crayon, or seen flowers growing in a garden. Inadequate diet saps their energy. Their poor sight or hearing goes unnoticed, their bad teeth ignored. In their homes they hear little besides curt commands, and cannot build the vocabulary they need to express themselves."

There are hundreds of such children, many in worse shape than these words describe, here in Perry County, who desperately need the preschool program. The selection of them is the most difficult task of all.

Their circumstance is made more difficult because in many cases their parents would never know about Head Start unless someone makes a point of telling them.

Let's hope both the city and county school systems understand this, and make some effort to beat the bushes everywhere to make sure the really needy children are enrolled in the project.

We citizens who are fairly comfortable can make our own contribution to the effort by helping to locate underprivileged children eligible for the training, and also by refraining from crowding the kindergartens with our own children, if it means crowding out a child who needs the training more.

heartening. But our nurses made plans to have their Christmas parties on or near Old Christmas Day, on January 6. Meanwhile they crossed precarious snowing, icy highways and climbed mountains on all fours to catch live babies who made their advent during the storms and floods.

On the thirtieth of December, I had to leave Wendover to meet outside engagements and I had five patients to take with me. One was Juliette. She was expecting a baby in January and she had not had a living one in nineteen years. When Dr. Hunt came to Wendover in October, she had examined Juliette and said we must get her down to Lexington. The other four patients were children of whom one, a boy of eleven named Joe Morgan, was a bad heart case. Since overland travel was impossible for us, I decided to turn the floods to our advantage and go out in a boat. My neighbor across the river, Taylor Morgan, had some planks, I had pitch. With these he built me a flat-bottomed boat which we named "The Ambulance." On the thirtieth we floated down the river from Wendover with Juliette and Joe, peking up the three other children whose homes lay further down. In the bow of the boat stood Taylor Morgan, guiding our destinies with the branch of a pawpaw tree. Next, on a plank, sat two sisters, Mable, aged three, and Hannah, aged six. I sat on the second plank with Joe, who was warmly wrapped in blankets and woolens. On the third plank sat Juliette with a crippled, cross-eyed child of six named Jean. Lastly, in the stern, on the baggage, which included supplies for any emergency, sat Martha Pruitt, alternately baling out our leaky vessel with a tobacco can and steering with a shingle.

Thus we made the sixteen miles with the current downstream. There we landed our precious freight, to portage the worst rapids, while we took the boat through them at the mouth of Hurt's Creek and in that foamy bit of water known as Judy's Whirlpool near the mouth of Betty's Branch. Across from Confluence, where we built Mrs. Bolton's nursing center a year later, there is a creek called Trace. We abandoned our boat at Trace and got hold of a mule team. Only four miles and one mountain lay between us and the railroad but it took us three hours to cover those four miles by wagon in the dark. There was no road—just rocky, banded creeks up to the gap of the mountain and down the other side.

We had left Wendover at eight o'clock in the morning. At eight that night we stood by the tracks at the way station of Krypton when the train came thunder-

OUR READERS WRITE

Attorney Clarifies Point

Dear Sir,

I have had forwarded to me a copy of an article which appeared in your paper regarding the Mount Mary and Appalachian Regional Hospital condition. In this article it was stated that the Area Redevelopment Administration laid down two conditions for consolidation of the two hospitals. I do not know where the information came from and whether these conditions were issued by the ARA, but nothing was said at the meeting I attended at Washington regarding these two conditions.

Chief Counsel, Mr. Thomas Harvey, stated he would not say in advance whether or not he would approve an agreement of consolidation. He said that the Appalachian Group and the Mount Mary Hospital would have to enter into an agreement which would be submitted to the government and at that time he would make a decision. At no time in the meeting was it stated what conditions would have to be met in such an agreement.

These conditions are the conditions that were set by the Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital's Dr. Kleck.

The Grant Agreement between the Federal Government and the Appalachian Regional Hospitals does not mention these conditions and states only that if the Appalachian Regional Hospitals dispose of any of the assets secured by reason of the $3,900,000 grant it can only be done by approval of the U. S. Government. What agreement the U. S. Government would approve is not stated in the grant agreement, nor was it stated at the meeting in Washington.

I hope this is a proper clarification of the meeting attended by me. I certainly hope that something agreeable can be worked out so that Mount Mary Hospital can continue to exist and to render the services that it has rendered to Hazard in the past and which Hazard deserves. Mount Mary wishes the Appalachian Hospital well. The reason for all our efforts is survival with dignity.

"She Hath Done What She Could"

(Mark 14:8)

She shunned personal publicity, let even before she died her name was legend in the hills.

She came from one of America's most distinguished aristocratic families, yet she lived the greater part of her days among Kentucky mountaineers.

She reached the age of 25 unskilled for any life, but that of a society debutante, yet before she died she had contributed more than any other person to the advancement of modern medicine in the isolated Kentucky Mountains.

She learned to ride a horse as one of the standard luxuries of young ladies of affluence. Then turned her skill to practical use, carrying on horseback needed medical care to shacks and cabins where sickness raged, or where women labored through the pangs of childbirth.

She was educated at the best schools in the United States, at Europe studying the arts and the social graces that refined and polished young women of her generation stand.

Yet one of her greatest accomplishments, a later task was to establish the Frontier Graduate School of Midwifery where her own students studied and the sciences arts put the very practical science of child delivery.

Her efforts in the mountains of Kentucky resulted in the safe delivery of over 12,000 babies between 1925 and 1955 yet her own life was one of personal sacrifice when both her children died young.

A man frail of body, her physical life on Kentucky mountain frontier make the contrast of certain pioneers pale in comparison. For her swollen trousers on horseback was all in her life work, as she rode down these same streams in rain, boots, breeches, and skirts and injured. Riding alone in horse, she through mountain caves and hollows where darkness lurked outside the law was her common hazard.

Her noted legal estates for all that time, she was not so distant in the hills.

Her father was a congressman and an illustrious statesman of 1894-97. Her grandfather was Vice President of the United States, and later, General in the Confederate Army. Her great-grandfather was the Secretary of State. Her great-grandfather, James A. U. S. Senator from Kentucky, and served as President Thomas Jefferson's Attorney General.

She came from that life. I distinguished one, yet one of their distinctive outdoor life, not were their contributions in high national and international affairs greater than her own in little back-country Kentucky where she died May 16, 1955 at the age of 84.

For while the deeds of her famous ancestor live in history books, her deeds live on in whole generations of living people who whether they know it or not, have their own distinguished ancestor in Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, founder of the Frontier Nursing Service. Truly, she was the guardian angel of the Kentucky mountains.

Personal Opinion

This column is made available to readers of the Hazard Herald who have opinions to express that require more space than a letter-to-the-editor will permit. As in our letters column, opinions set forth here do not necessarily reflect the thinking of this newspaper.

By Mrs. Jackie Begley

Would you please answer the following question? How many mentally retarded children do we have in Perry County? I seriously doubt if one reader out of a hundred can give the correct answer. Frankly, it amazes me to learn that there are a little more than a thousand retarded children in Perry County. To go a bit further, how many citizens of our county realize this is approximately 4 per cent of the children of Perry County?

These facts prove that we are faced with the undeniable necessity of a school for these unfortunate children. We, as a whole, have so long been listless of this situation that we now have an acute problem! Our youth of today are our citizens of tomorrow—and sadly we are forced to admit mental retardation is becoming more prevalent. With these facts before us, one might sigh and readily admit tomorrow holds a Dark Victory!

I refuse to even think that the future of Perry County is comparable to a dark victory.

Our forefathers faced what seemed to be a hopeless future, yet they never gave up. The men who left their blood-stained footprints at Valley Forge did not know that Yorktown lay ahead. Those pioneers who left their skeletons along the western trails never reached Eldorado, but they marked the way for those who followed. You see, the faith of our fathers was constant.

"Love thy neighbor as thyself." "It is more blessed to give than to receive." "And a little child shall lead them." These words are from the greatest of all books, our Holy Bible.

Democracy, let us rally to your banner, pocket our pride. If need be, borrow a page from the book we shall call "Common Sense," as we join together in a united fight for a just cause, a school for our dearly loved mentally retarded children of Perry County. What greater memorial could one possibly wish?

We shall get this school. Perry County is blessed with many people possessing great minds; we are blessed with many men and women who are capable of beginning and seeing completed a project such as this and most of all we are fortunate to have in our citizenry many persons who are endowed with the greatest attribute of all, that "never-say-die attitude."

We had a meeting relative to mental retardation, which was not publicized to any extent. It was amazing the amount of interest and the enthusiasm which was evident at this meeting. Perry County very definitely has the necessary interest in obtaining the school—and sadly, we admit, Perry County also possesses over a thousand mentally retarded children. So the only solution is get the school without further delay!

What an appealing mission for our citizens of Perry County! To put the sunrise into the dark dawn of life for these unfortunate little children. There are few appeals so worthwhile as that of childhood. Yet the appeal can be answered only by you and by me. For my part my plan for your help shall not have been in vain if in your heart too, there stirs an answer to the words penned by the immortal poetess, Emily Dickenson, as follows:

Will there really be a morning?
Is there such a thing as day?
Could I see it from the mountains
If I were as tall as they?
Oh some sailor, oh some scholar,
O some wise man from the skies,
Please in tell a hilly pilgrim
Where the place called morning lies.

May we Perry Countians be the visionaries who by our deeds of love and mercy will show our little mentally retarded children just where morning does lie, and also where lies the dawn, where fades the solemn dark of mental retardation into the sunlit dawn of brotherhood and hope. We may accomplish this in form of a school for our much loved mentally retarded children.

We ask that every civic club have a representative attend our next meeting. We urge each church throughout our county to be represented at the meeting. We request each and every county official in office and all those candidates who are hopeful of being elected to be present. Most of all we want every person interested in securing a school of this nature to come. We need you to plan a strategy for an attack on this threat to our future so that the only result will be SUCCESS, a school for our children. Please help us.

Editor's note: The next meeting of the Hazard Area Association For Retarded Children is Monday evening, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Kentucky Power Company auditorium.

The One That Got Away

We talk about these things, and we talk about them, but somehow, Hazard is strangely, sadly, lacking whatever it takes beyond talk to make a tangible contribution to the industrialization of this community.

And the talk, we fail to see immediate opportunities. It's like being unable to see the forest for the trees.

Boone Bay Industries, the energetic, growing little furniture factory on the Stuart Robinson School campus near Blackey in Letcher County, has been sold.

The factory employed 20 people. Its outlets grew from 7 in November to 40 in April. Its production volume had to triple to meet its orders.

The little firm was forced to find a new location when the announcement was made that a college would be established on the campus.

Unable to find a suitable place, the factory was sold, to a Manchester group, where it is resuming operation this week under the same name.

Whoever would have thought Manchester had moved on the ball than Hazard?

It's sad to admit, but Hazard is sound asleep.

"Wide Neighborhoods" Is Tribute To Mrs. Breckinridge And FNS

Many people who knew of Mary Breckinridge and her work as founder of the Frontier Nursing Service have been moved to attempt tributes to the great lady since her death last Sunday. But perhaps the best tribute to FNS and to its founder is her own fascinating book, "WIDE NEIGHBORHOODS," published in 1952. To call the public's attention to this remarkable volume, we reprint the following excerpt, an account of a particularly exciting and touching episode from the early days of FNS. The narrator of this passage is Mrs. Breckinridge. The book is available at Bobby Davis Memorial Library.

That year the December rains fell upon us in torrents. Three tides in ten days left us with inundated roads, heaps of mire and quicksand great washouts and gullies. When Christmas Day dawned, half our supplies for the holidays were still at the railroad. We had had no second-class mail for ten days, and had no prospect of any for two or three weeks to come. Our nursing units at Hyden, Wendover, and the Jessie Preston Draper upriver were marooned from one another by a waste of angry waters tearing madly down the craggy slopes into the creeks and branches and bearing with them to the river logs and boulders and the earth itself in landslides. It was a bit disheartening. But our nurses made plans to have their Christmas parties on or near Old Christmas Day, on January 6. Meanwhile they crossed precarious snowing, icy highways and climbed mountains on all fours to catch live babies who made their advent during the storms and floods.

On the thirtieth of December, I had to leave Wendover to meet outside engagements and I had five patients to take with me. One was Juliette. On the thirtieth we floated down the river from Wendover with Juliette and Joe, peking up the three other children whose homes lay further down. In the bow of the boat stood Taylor Morgan, guiding our destinies with the branch of a pawpaw tree. Next, on a plank, sat two sisters, Mable, aged three, and Hannah, aged six. I sat on the second plank with Joe, who was warmly wrapped in blankets and woolens. On the third plank sat Juliette with a crippled, cross-eyed child of six named Jean. Lastly, in the stern, on the baggage, which included supplies for any emergency, sat Martha Pruitt, alternately baling out our leaky vessel with a tobacco can and steering with a shingle.

There was no road—just rocky, banded creeks up to the gap of the mountain and down the other side.

We had left Wendover at eight o'clock in the morning. At eight that night we stood by the tracks at the way station of Krypton when the train came thundering through. I felt Joe's and Hannah's hands tremble in mine. They had never seen a train before. "Won't hit 'em?" gasped Joe. Later, in his Pullman berth, sinking back on white pillows, he added, "I thought hit was goin' to be like a waggie." Then he turned his big, sad, brown eyes up to mine and said, "I stood this jetter'n I thought I could." As the train thundered on down out of the mountains we counted our little boatload over—every one of them safe—with grateful hearts.

Of all the children I have known in the mountains Joe has left the most unfading imprint on my memory. This homeless boy of eleven, whose mother had died in childbirth, whose father had been a moonshiner and was serving his term in a Federal Jail, this boy who thanked you for sending a warm wrap to cover him, who thought of a thank-you letter to his host and paid for the stamp himself out of the only nickel he had in the world, who bore uncomplainingly the pangs of his mortal illness (Joe died at the Children's Hospital in Louisville) and twelve hours of exhausting travel, this waif, with a knightly code of courtesy and honor—whenever I think of him I recall the divine promise: "And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels."

JESSIE HORN

For
COUNTY COURT CLERK
TO THE CITIZENS OF PERRY COUNTY:

Your County Court Clerk's Office is a business office and must be maintained as a business, like any other. Since I have been Clerk we have been constantly on the alert to do everything practical and economically feasible to up-grade the operation of the office.

Last year after moving to the temporary Court House, realizing the danger from floods, fire or vandalism, we purchased all index, deed and marriage books, and most mortgage and lease books. This year we plan to rebuild two plot of map books.

After paying for all improvements that have been made in the Clerk's Office, since I have been your Clerk, and meeting all operating expenses, I have turned more than $55,000.00 back to the county.

For continued courteous, efficient and honest service, cast your vote next Tuesday, for me for County Court Clerk.

Sincerely,
JESSIE HORN

YANCY AMIS

Yancy Amis
FOR SHERIFF
Democratic Primary, May 25, 1965
To The Voters of Perry County

As pastor of the Johns Baptist Church, of Buckhorn, Kentucky, I wish to make the following statements in behalf of Yancy Amis who is now a candidate for Sheriff of Perry County.

Our records show that he has been a member of this Church since 1934 and Deacon since 1941. He is also Chairman of the Board of Directors.

In performing the duties that are imposed upon a man holding these positions, I have always found Mr. Amis to be very sincere and Christian like in the fulfillment of the obligations that are involved.

As to his civic duties in our community, he and his family are always ready and willing to aid any person, or family in need of free transportation to and from doctors offices, clinics, or a hospital. At the time of death or funerals, you will again find YANCY AMIS and his family there to give whatever aid they can to those in grief. Their cars are always available to help transport people to and from services each Sunday.

As to his official records while serving the public as Deputy Sheriff and A.B.C. Agent in Perry County. They speak for themselves.

I feel assured, should he be nominated and elected to this office, you will find him to be sober, honest, dependable, and a Christian Gentleman while carrying out the many duties and obligations that you expect of your Sheriff.

Very respectfully yours,
BEECHIE JOHNSON, Pastor
Johnson Baptist Church,

State Representative
Democratic Primary, May 25

To The Voters of Hazard and Perry County:

I, Roland "Chink" Combs, wish to inform the people of Perry County that I am the son of Tilden and Ellen Holliday Combs of Hardburly, Kentucky; that I am a brother of Dr. Lyndon F. (Little Doe) Combs and Tolbert Combs, Commonwealth Attorney. I have lived in Perry County all my life and worked for the Hardy-Burlingham Mining Company and its successors at Hardburly, Kentucky.

I attended Lee's Junior College at Jackson, Kentucky, and the University of Kentucky at Lexington, Kentucky. I served approximately four years in World War II with the 82nd Airborne Division from the time it was activated at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, until the time it was deactivated and we were discharged from the Service.

As a member of the 82nd Airborne Division I participated in seven major battles and have seven combat battle stars and a Presidential Unit Citation for the combats in which I was engaged.

If nominated and elected as your State Representative I shall support all legislation pertaining to:

- (1) the betterment of all Health and Welfare programs, additional aid to the mentally retarded and our aged senior citizens,
- (2) the improvement of our schools and school systems, with better pay for the teachers and additional facilities for our schools,
- (3) the improvement and expansion of our road network system in Eastern Kentucky,
- (4) the improvement of all Veterans' programs, especially those pertaining to our disabled Veterans,
- (5) the improvement and betterment of our Soil Conservation Program, the clearing up of our streams and preventing the pollution of our waterways, also the conservation of all our natural resources.

Having lived in Perry County all my life and having invested in Perry County all that I own, I believe I understand our problems better than any of my opponents and that I am better qualified to find a remedy for these problems. I will always be available to discuss legislative matters with any person or persons desiring to do so.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated and I will always be grateful to you for any assistance you may give me in this election.

FAMILY BACKGROUND

1. This is my first race for political office in Perry County.
2. I was born at Krypton, Ky., and educated in Perry County, having gone to school at Big Creek and Buckhorn.
3. Cy Noble was my father who at one time ran for this very important office.
4. May Napier of Krypton, Ky., was my mother, daughter of "Lucinda Begley & Red Bob Napier."
5. Roy Edward Combs of Busy, Ky., is my husband. He is the grandson of "Rod McIntosh."
6. I am 36 years of age and have a daughter going to M. C. Napier High School, and help rear my husband's two children. I understand and appreciate the problems of our young people and the many difficult tasks they face in life.
7. I have 18 years experience at office work, having performed the tasks of bookkeeping, filing and typing.
8. Elbert Strong, was my uncle and served many of you as your County Attorney. C. A. Noble, Sr., also served the people of this County for many years, and his sons continue in the legal profession. One of which also served as your County Attorney.
9. My father worked many years for Sam Campbell in his magistrate's office, and I am sure you remember Dad or Cy when he worked for Sam Campbell.

If elected to this very important office my platform is simple.

1. Everyone regardless of politics is welcome to visit and make the Clerk's office a part of his government and he may change his registration at legal times without any advice or prompting since this is his privilege.
2. To the Attorneys or Lawyers of this area, as well as the people I promise to keep their deed books and mortgage books permanently indexed monthly to make their abstracting safe and easier.
3. I promise to get new index books for the leins books and re-index the books so that if anyone is running the name of Combs or any name they will be able to look under the C page or pages without jumping all over the book to find and abstract their title or research and thereby do away with unnecessary pitfalls.
4. Your records will be respected and protected during my tenure of office.
5. I do not desire a lifetime deed to this office and will only run one term, and will step aside and give some one else an opportunity to serve you people, since I merely want to be your custodian and humble servant.
6. I promise to keep your Clerk's Office open all day on each and every Saturday of the year since I realize that this is the only day of the week that many of our people have a chance to come to town to transact their business.
7. I plan to make myself or my chief deputy available at all times to serve the people.
8. I promise to not absent myself from the office for more than two weeks of the year.
9. I promise to personally observe and keep a firm control over all the tabulation sheets of all election in this County.
10. I promise to run an efficient office, and to buy equipment only with the approval of the Fiscal Court.
11. My staff will be experienced in serving the public and persons whom all of you know and respect.

I ask for your help and support in this Republican Primary Election, and I would love to be your Republican choice for the November Election since I feel that I can be a winner in November if nominated. I plan to visit each and every one of you before the primary election and if I should fail to see you it will be because you were gone when I made my visit.

Any consideration you can show me will be appreciated to the bottom of my heart.

—BARBARA NOBLE COMBS.

SERMON FROM LOCAL MINISTER

The remark has been made that today the national religion of America is "Jumboism". Ever since the days that Barnum advertised his circus through telling of the elephant that was the largest animal in captivity, we have our enthusiasm aroused by things that are immense.

About 30 years ago there was a young man less than 30 years of age who went about the country advertising a certain brand of shoes. People flocked from miles around to see this fellow who was nine feet three inches in height requiring a special built car in which to be carried from one point to another.

We speak in glowing terms of cities which have grown in population and thus in economies and think of them as successes merely because they are large. We stand in awe of the big businesses — large incomes, large staffs, large profits. We seek out the financial institutions which have made the best records and talk of them to our neighbors.

One of the first questions we ask ministers or laity of the church in which they serve is, How many members do you have?, and there is a look of decided disappointment if it is not one to be "ah-ing" over.

But God's standards of value are far different. His world is made up of little objects. More and more the scientist is turning away from the telescope to the microscope to see the ways in which God works. Immense as the universe looks to us, yet we have come to see it is made up of atoms (which may be broken down even smaller—each one with an almost unbelievable amount of power.

When He would show Moses who He was and in whom Moses must place his trust He noted a small rod in the hands of the selected leader. He turned it into a serpent and convinced Moses that He was "I AM THAT I AM".

The Wise Man in Proverbs speaks of four things which are little upon the earth (the ant, the cony, the locust, and the spider) but goes on to say that they are exceeding wise.

When Jesus would feed the crowd of people who waited on His preaching He turned to a little boy with five loaves and two fishes—just a small lunch which he had brought with him for the day.

When the Master would show the true significance of His Kingdom He spoke of a grain of mustard seed that would grow into a tree wherein the birds might build their nests.

The Christian movement began in a very small way—One Man, Jesus, who gathered twelve other men about Him to teach them and show them the way which they would in turn show to others.

John Wesley, the Episcopal rector, once said, Give me one hundred men who fear nothing but God and hate nothing but sin, and I will turn the world upside down. Well, he just about did it for even the historian realized the significance of that movement which he said, saved England from a revolution such as had torn France from one end to the other. But Jesus had one-eighth of that number and His Gospel, His life of service remain today as a pattern of life for all men.

And so the little services we may render to one another must no longer be insignificant. The little moments that we are given one after another in an hour or a day are no longer unimportant—they are our chance to make a life. The little ones in our homes and on our street and in our Sunday Schools take on new values.

"I cannot see where you have made any progress since the last time I was here", said a caller in the studio of Michelangelo. The great sculptor pointed to the different parts of the statue and replied, "I have retouched this part, polished that, softened this feature, brought out that muscle, given more expression to the lip and more energy to the limb". "But those things are all trifles his visitor replied. "That may be" replied Michelangelo, "but trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle".
